Sale Make Lords Finals

Sale Sports Club celebrated the conclusion of its 2010 community coaching programme by taking a team of under 11 cricketers to Lords, the home of cricket, to compete in a national Chance to Shine tournament.

Twelve young cricketers from Sale's Chance to Shine schools were nominated by the schools based on their attitude and passion for the game.

The competition was attended by 8 teams from all over the country with Sale eventually finishing a credible 3rd place, only losing on the day to the eventual winners. The girls and boys were treated to a guided tour of the famous old cricket ground and a question and answer session with former England international Mark Alleyne.

The event highlighted the fantastic work done by the club's new Coaching and Development Officer, Rick Halkon. Over 450 hours of cricket coaching have been delivered in 12 local primary and secondary schools, reaching 250 local children. The lucky ones, some of whom only 7 months ago had never played cricket, were given the opportunity to compete in a national competition at the home of cricket. This is a dream shared by cricketers of all ages all over the world.
